

2017 Donaldson Science Award

Do you know a student of color who deserves recognition for their STEM achievements and passion? The Science Museum of Minnesota and Donaldson Company, Inc. want to help!

The Science Museum of Minnesota is currently accepting nominations for high school students who identify as African American, Hispanic, American Indian, or Asian. Only Minnesota educators and STEM professionals are eligible to nominate a student. This award is exclusively for high schoolers. Nominations are due by Wednesday, November 9, and should be submitted online at smm.org/sciencefusion/donaldson-science-award.

Donaldson Science Award winners receive $500, a one-year membership to the Science Museum of Minnesota, and recognition at an exclusive brunch during one of the museum's Science Fusion events.

Accepting Nominations

Now through November 9, 2016

For details, please visit

smm.org/sciencefusion/donaldson-science-award

